

WEEKLY REPORT
Air Division
Environmental Protection Agency
Region 9
Week Ending January 27, 2017

Significant Items for Last Week (January 23 – January 27)

California Air Resources Board (CARB) Primary Quality Assurance Organization (PQAO) Training: During the week of January 23, we attended and presented at a comprehensive 3-day ambient air monitoring training hosted by CARB in Pomona, CA. Participants included EPA, CARB, and California local air agencies. The training covered all aspects of air monitoring including operation of equipment, quality assurance and quality control, data collection, and data validation. (Contact: Michael Flagg, 2-3373)

Significant Items for This Week (January 30– February 3)

Northern Sonoma County Air Pollution Control District (APCD): On January 30, Northern Sonoma APCD will hold its first meeting for the reconstituted APCD Board, consisting of representation from a broader group of the County and cities. EPA will attend, along with representatives from California Air Resources Board, Bay Area Air Quality Management District, and other partner agencies. (Contact: Matt Lakin, 2-3851)

Significant Items for Next Week (February 6 – February 10)

San Joaquin Valley (SJV) PM_{2.5} Workshop: On February 9, EPA will attend a public workshop on PM_{2.5} stationary source control measures. This will be the last of a set of five public meetings hosted by California Air Resources Board and the SJV Air District on PM_{2.5} planning and control measures. (Contact: Rory Mays, 2-3227)
